La fabrication au pochoir est la méthode la plus traditionnelle : elle nécessite l'utilisation d'émail en poudre et d'au moins un pochoir par couleur. Le brossage à la main garantit alors un aspect équivalent à celui des plaques émaillées anciennes. Chaque passage au four à des températures avoisinant les 800°C va ensuite révéler tout l'éclat des différentes couleurs. Les reliefs ainsi obtenus, de même que l'irrégularité de certains traits, feront de chaque plaque émaillée un modèle unique.
